With the lockdowns and Netflix's Queens Gambit I couldn't resist the temptation and began to play chess. Now in the weekends I can play hours of rapid 10 minutes games on-line non-stop. Unfortunately , I suck at playing chess and I am the subject of my 12 years sons mean heartless jokes. He plays way better knowing the openings and traps which I never could remember. If my rating goes down I let him play under my account. Is it cheating? Yes, and I am truly sorry :-)
